

Stanford PRISM

Stanford PRISM is an opportunity for late-stage graduate students from diverse backgrounds to explore Stanford postdoctoral training in medicine and the sciences.

Benefits:

- Expense-paid trip to Stanford
- Discuss shared research interests with faculty
- Meet current Stanford postdocs
- Get the inside scoop on postdoctoral training
- Explore campus and the Bay Area

When: March 14-17, 2018

Who Should Apply:

Graduate students who:

- expect to complete their PhD in 2018
- wish to continue their training as postdoctoral scholars

We welcome applications from all interested students and especially encourage individuals from groups underrepresented in the biosciences to apply. These groups include, but are not limited to: African Americans, Latinos, Native Americans, Pacific Islanders, and those with disabilities or from disadvantaged backgrounds. Training grant eligible applicants (US Citizens and Permanent Residents) will have priority.

Apply Now:

Deadline is January 15
For more information
see <http://postdocs.stanford.edu/PRISM>

Application Includes:

- Research Statement
- Recommendation from your Graduate Advisor
- CV
- Names of up to 6 potential Stanford faculty mentors

